

MONDAY EVENING, JULY 8.

AND NOW complaints are heard in the North of the appointment of negro postal clerks in that section of the country. As misery loves company, such complaints are not heartrending to southern people.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alex. Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8, 1889.

A large number of the Mahone wing of the Virginia republicans are here to-day on their way to Petersburg to attend the meeting of General Mahone's State Committee and his special partisans, to be held there, to-morrow. Among them are Mr. Martin, a member of the Mahone State committee, district attorney Craig, and Messrs. Proffit, McCull and Brown. They say the meeting will be numerous and attended, and that probably every county in the State will be represented. Those taking part with the subject say the Heerman letter cannot help but do them good, as it shows the administration how it is regarded by the "kickers."

The Attorney General to-day determined to submit the Government's claim to the famous Des Moines lands, about which there has been so much speaking in recent Congresses to a judicial decision, and has authorized a suit for that purpose to be brought in the U. S. Circuit Court.

A great many people, among them many federal officers, want General Marcus J. Wright, an ex-Confederate, appointed one of the two civil members of the "Rebellion Record Board," but Secretary Proctor hesitates to appoint him, lest the G. A. R. object.

No changes in the 4th class Virginia post-offices to-day. A Mahone delegation from Floyd and Court House, Va., is here to-day to present against commissioning the new postmaster there, whose appointment was obtained upon the recommendation of Mr. Wingfield Scott, ex-superintendent of the Virginia penitentiary, an anti-Mahoneite.

The prize fight is the leading, if not the only topic of general conversation here to-day, the interest in it having absorbed that in all others. Even at the White House, and in the presence of the President, the latest bulletins from New Orleans are eagerly discussed, even to the exclusion of matters relating to the disposal of federal offices. At the departments and at the Capitol it was the same. The feeling was decidedly in favor of Kilrain, but the betting was decidedly in favor of Sullivan.

The recent conference held by some of the more partisan republican Senators with the President in reference to certain measures for securing republican majorities in all the four new States has, it is said here, suggested the idea to the democrats that with proper efforts they might possibly gain something that direction and induced them to make the attempt.

D. J. Goodwin, of Norfolk, Virginia, formerly an active democratic politician, but who left the democratic party to follow General Mahone, has been appointed an examiner in the land office here at a salary of $2,000.

Some of ex-Senator Eddleberger's friends say he may be expected here to-morrow or next day.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

John J. Straghan, of the Highland county Record, of Virginia, died suddenly on Friday.

Rosano College will have Japanese, Mexican, and Choctaw students next session.

Daniel E. Husted, a well known merchant of Norfolk, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday.

Last Monday Jeter Carr was kicked by a horse at Spotsylvania Court House and died on Friday morning.

Congressman Baily Browne was on the train which was derailed on the Eastern Shore on Thursday, but escaped unhurt.

Already $40,000 of the capital stock for the establishment and operation of a cotton factory in Front Royal has been taken.

Col Thomas Evans, a prominent lawyer, and Mr. Daniel K. Stewart, probably the richest man in Virginia, are critically ill in Richmond.

M. C. Miller, formerly of Botetourt county, aged 39 years, night clerk at the Lunsford Hotel, Birmingham, Ala., committed suicide on Saturday by taking morphine.

Appomattox and Nottoway counties have elected delegates to the Virginia democratic convention in favor of the nomination of Col P. W. McKinney for Governor.

Much of the wheat on the Shenandoah River bottoms was so damaged by the high water of several weeks ago that it was not worth cutting, and is left in the fields.

W. W. Evans, editor of the Virginia Lancet, the organ of the colored people at Petersburg, was arrested last night on a warrant sworn out by H. W. Welles, of Hicksford, charging him with criminal libel.

Tompson Wanzler, colored, who for thirty years carried the mail from the depot at Warrenton to the postoffice, died Friday.

He was perhaps the oldest in the service of any employee of the Virginia Midland railroad.

In Staunton on Saturday, in the case of Stuart against Peyton, in the White Sulphur Springs Company, the Court held Peyton liable for his contribution part of the liabilities as co-sponsor with Stuart on the note of the White Sulphur Springs Company.

Jordan and Robert Washington and Grant Lewis, all colored, implicated in the killing of Haywood Johnson and the stabbing of Lewis Scott in a fracas at the depot at Fredericksburg on the night of the 4th, had a hearing on Saturday and were sent on for trial.

Col. John A. McCaul, the comic opera impresario, left New York on Friday, for his brother's home at Roanoke, for a rest of several weeks. He is much improved in health, and was much brighter and more cheerful than when he first returned from Europe. He has gained several pounds since his return, and his physician hopes for a steady recovery.

The case of Dr. Conrad, late superintendent of the Western Lunatic Asylum, was before the grand jury of Staunton for some days last week and on Saturday the jury adjourned without finding an indictment. The jury was composed of six members, and it is understood that they stood four for and two against finding an indictment. It required five affirmative votes to bring in an indictment.

In accepting of the resignation of Gen. F. H. Smith, as superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute, the Board of Visitors passed the following: "While thus yielding to the desire of Gen. Smith, the Board cannot without due consideration to itself, the Institute, or to him, permit him to sever his connection with the Virginia Military Institute, and therefore do hereby elect him Emeritus Professor of Mathematics and Moral and Political Philosophy."

Wheat harvest is over, and some of the Fauquier county farmers are very blue. Wheat was badly washed while in bloom, especially smooth wheat, and bad fillings is the consequence. Cautious farmers estimate the shortage at from one-fifth to one-fourth. Hay is prime if it can be cured. Oats the same. Corn is very promising, though not generally well worked on account of too much rain. Cattle grazing and feeding having proved the bitterness of disappointment to many farmers, they are disposed to go back to sheep culture. Some seven hundred have lately arrived by railroad at Warrenton.

THE PRESIDENT minister will not leave this country permanently, but he is nevertheless highly displeased with the manner in which the Shah, now on a visit to England, is spoken of by American newspapers. Respect is a lost quality in the United States, and it is not surprising that people from eastern countries, in which such is not the case, feel outraged at the ridicule and abuse of dignitaries whom they regard with deference amounting to awe.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Six persons were drowned in Baltimore on Saturday and yesterday.

Louis Cherier, cashier of the bank at Houghton, Wis., has disappeared with about $50,000.

The French Senate Committee has approved the bill for the relief of the Panama Canal Company.

It is said that Gen. Rosecrans, register of the treasury, will be displaced to make room for ex-Senator Bruce.

Prof. Lewis Swift, of Rochester, N. Y., discovered a new comet Saturday morning in the northwestern heavens.

In a fight between strikers and police at Duluth, Minnesota, on Saturday thirty-five persons were wounded and two were killed.

Twelve attempts have recently been made to burn the town of Danbury, Conn., the last one, Saturday, causing considerable damage.

Thomas Ewing Sherman, son of General Sherman, received the final orders of the priesthood from Archbishop Ryan in the Philadelphia Cathedral yesterday.

Every business house and about forty dwellings in Bakersfield, Cal., were destroyed by fire yesterday evening, incurring a loss of over a million dollars.

Eight lives were lost on the railway near Roerbrooss, Germany, on Saturday, by the Frankfurt express dashing into an empty train through the blunder of a switchman.

The 2,800 former employees of the Reading Iron Works have been notified that the works will soon resume, but that none will be re-employed who belong to labor organizations.

A blanket mortgage for $10,000,000 was placed on record in Baltimore on Saturday from the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company to the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Baltimore, to cover an issue of bonds to this amount, to be used in the payment of all hitherto existing mortgages and all outstanding obligations of the railroad company of every description.

Prince Bismarck's letters to the German minister at Bern are regarded as a serious menace to the neutrality of Switzerland, and it now appears that an exchange of communications has resulted in an identical policy being adopted by the Austrian and Italian governments to compel Switzerland to comply with the demands for a revision of the laws affecting refugees.

The Secretary of the Interior has accepted the resignation of Joseph E. Johnston, commissioner of railroads, and he has been granted ten days' leave of absence. Gen. Johnston tendered his resignation early in March, but action upon it has been deferred up to the present time. Gen. Sherman and others interested themselves in an effort to have him remain as commissioner of railroads.

The coroner's jury at Johnston on Saturday night returned the following verdict: "That the drowning was caused by the breaking of the South Fork dam. We further find that there were not sufficient waste weirs, nor was the dam constructed strong enough, nor the proper material used to withstand the overflow, and hence we find that the owners of said dam were culpable in not making it as secure as it should have been, especially in view of the fact that a population of many thousands were in the valley below, and we hold that the owners are responsible for the fearful loss of life and property resulting from the breaking of the dam."

The Postmastership.

In your local column of Saturday you say that three reverend gentlemen of this city, and others, whose names you do not mention, called recently upon Postmaster General Wanamaker, and gave him certain reasons why Mr. L. W. Corbet should not be appointed postmaster. Now, the writer is a personal friend of that gentleman, and though being a consistent democrat, he has always voted against him because of what he considered his erroneous political opinions; and as a personal and political friend of Maj. Herbert he desires his retention at the postoffice, he would very much like to know (and he thinks the public in general, also, would) what those reasons were. As ministers of the gospel (in this part of the country at least) are not accustomed to lead in political matters, and as from the standing of those mentioned the reasons which prompted them thus to take a conspicuous part against Mr. C. must be assumed to be very grave ones, it is surely not asking too much to request that they be made public. Everybody has an interest in the matter, and if Mr. Corbet can be shown to be manifestly unfit for the place he seeks, there should be a general protest against his appointment; but the fact that the objectors acknowledge that they were misinformed as to one of the principal charges they made, when they could easily have ascertained its falsity by a little enquiry before making it, induces the writer to think that they may be mistaken on other points. He has known Mr. Corbet from childhood, and though he has no favors to ask of a republican administration and has, therefore, never signed, or been asked to sign, any recommendation of him, he has no hesitation in saying that if Maj. Herbert is to be removed, Mr. Corbet has all the necessary qualifications and would make as good a postmaster as could be appointed.

FAIR PLAY.

[COMMUNICATED.]

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

Dear Sir:—In your paper of 6th instant, in a local headed "Mr. Corbet and the Postmastership," you state that I, in company with other clergymen, went to Washington to oppose the appointment of Mr. Corbet to said office. I here-with deny the whole statement as to myself. I do not even know Mr. Corbet, and have never been to Washington for or against any applicant to the postmastership.

I would respectfully suggest to your informant, whoever he may be, that it would be well if he would be accurate in giving names when making such statements to the public.

Yours respectfully,
J. M. MERCER.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

The Fight for the Championship.

NEW ORLEANS, July 8.—After worrying for half the night, an immense crowd early this morning moved toward the depot, and the cars of the select train were quickly filled. In the throng were many of the most prominent people in the city, of a business, financial, social and political character. It included bankers, merchants, lawyers, editors and reporters, as cosmopolitan a gathering as has ever come together on any occasion.

Just before the train started, Attorney General Rogers came aboard with members of the Governor's staff, and stated that the fight must positively not take place on Louisiana soil. At first no answer was made, but the officials were finally told that the men would not fight in the State of Louisiana. At 1:30 the first train with 12 coaches pulled out, and the conductor and engineer were given instructions to go straight through to the battle ground without a stop. On the train were the chief of police of New Orleans, and, in fact, most of the prominent officials of the city. The fight was expected to take place at Rich's saw mill, near Richburg, Miss., 103 miles from New Orleans, and to commence between 7 and 8 o'clock, provided a referee is agreed upon in time. It is not expected that anything will be heard until after the return to this city. The railroad company will not permit the use of its wires under any circumstances. Mike Donovan and Johnny Murphy were on the train when Kilrain left the city yesterday. All their baggage, water, etc., was left behind, and Kilrain had to use other water which it was feared might hurt his condition.

RICHBURG, Miss., July 8.—The train did not get here until 7:40. The ring is built an eighth of a mile from the railroad track. It is a pretty spot, with tall pines all around and the ground is level and covered with green turf. It is now 8 a. m., and the ring wherein the fight is to occur is surrounded by a throng numbering 1,200 people.

He has arranged a council for next Thursday. The cardinal vicar will remain in Rome with a part of the papal household. Sanor Goltard, the Spanish ambassador to the Vatican, arrived in Madrid yesterday and reported to the Spanish government the decision of the Pope to quit Italy, and his desire to reside in Spain. It was announced that the pontiff had expressed a desire that upon his decease, the cardinals should select Cardinal Laigrie as his successor at the Vatican. The wishes of the pope have met with general approval among the prelates, and there appears to be no doubt that Pope Leo's successor will be Cardinal Laigrie."

Memorial services for the victims of the wreck on the Norfolk and Western road, near Thaxton, were held at the Presbyterian Church, Roanoke, yesterday afternoon.

Extracts from Testimonials of Patrons.
(From Hon. W. W. Leake.)
Bayon Sara, La., June 1, 1889.

On responsible advice I placed my eldest son at Kenmore for a short time. I was so much pleased with the school that I kept him there. I afterwards sent two younger sons to Kenmore, and influenced others to patronize the school. I therefore give me pleasure to testify to the healthy moral tone of the school, its home-like character and its attention to the religious needs of its members. It is second to none in the State as a training school for business, collegiate or university life.

(From Rev. E. J. McBrayne, D.D.)
Grace Memorial Academy,
Lexington, Va., June, 1889.

While chaplain of the University of Virginia I noticed the university high standard which the Kenmore boys in general took in their classes. It evidenced their careful and thorough training under Mr. Strobe and his capable assistants. Since then I have been a patron of the school. It therefore gives me pleasure to testify to the healthy moral tone of the school, its home-like character and its attention to the religious needs of its members. It is second to none in the State as a training school for business, collegiate or university life.

Thibodeaux, La., May 27, 1889.
I know of no school which I could so safely recommend to those having boys to educate.
